

BIT501 Business Concepts and Communication Study plan

The course has a suggested study plan. Read this to get an overview of the course.

We assume that you will start your study on the first day of the trimester. If you start later, adjust the timetable to suit your own requirements.

For planning purposes, you should allow an average of 10–12 hours each week during the trimester to complete the course.

By following this suggested plan, you will complete the required modules before the assessment dates. Try to follow the plan as closely as possible.
